Legal support for transactions in the acquisition of securities and other financial instruments

Lawyers of Legal Studio have provided legal support for transactions in the acquisition of securities and other financial instruments in order to increase net assets, improve the financial condition and financial recovery of a company. Lawyers in partnership with auditors were involved in analyzing the current financial condition of the company and making recommendations for its improvement. One of the tasks was to minimize tax risks and advise on the reflection of these transactions in tax returns. As a result of the transactions, there was an increase in capital, which contributed to the reduction of losses, an increase in net assets and the investment attractiveness of the company.
