The Appeal commission's chairman is the vice-minister of finance supervising tax and customs issues.

The Appeal commission's members will express their positions with justifications on the appeals which will be considered on the commission's meetings. Such meetings will be held on a weekly basis on Thursdays. The Appeal commission's meeting is deemed to be quorate upon participation of not less than half of the commission's members, including the commission's chairman as well as the representative of the State revenue committee supervising the respective tax and customs issues.
